The last five years have brought such extraordinary changes to Germany and Europe as to make the previous forty years of Cold War existence seem deceptively placid and well-ordered by comparison. The collapse of communist rule in East Germany in the midst of massive demonstrations against the Honecker regime in late 1989 were only the beginning.

The many contradictory elements of Soviet policy are described, notably the repression of nationalities and religion, alleviated by periods of tolerance. Deep-rooted anti-Semitism is treated as the true basis of Soviet policy. Levin maintains that the Soviets have failed to examine their own anti-Semitism or to come to terms with minority ...
